Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 02 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain clearing Tuesday morning, then brighter, showers later.

Today:
A wet and windy start in the east on Tuesday. The rain will soon clear away east, with a drier and brighter interlude following, and the chance of a few showers, these becoming heavier by evening. Milder. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy showers at first this evening, soon clearing away east. Most places then turning drier with some clearer spells developing, and winds decreasing. Perhaps a few mist patches forming inland. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
A spell of rain is likely through the morning, especially in the south and east. Some afternoon brightness but also a few showers. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Thursday and Friday, some bright spells but also some showers, heavy at times. Saturday, further spells of rain likely, perhaps turning wintry later as colder northeast winds develop.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.